Mass Murder Becomes a Crime

Every event between 1939 and 1945 may be forgotten eventually, except one—the trial of Germany's war criminals. If through this single detail of World War II and its aftermath, organized killing were to become a crime in international law, as it already is in popular morals, all other events of the century would be unimportant by comparison.

There are many obstacles before the Allied jurists who at last have handed down their first indictment of German war criminals and specified their charges. One of the largest, ironically, is the failure of so many Americans to understand what is being attempted and what is at stake. The purpose is not to do away with a few Germans who lost the war and therefore are at the mercy of the victors. The purpose is to give history's first effectual expression to the conviction in the hearts of most men that it has become a high crime against civilization to conspire together to bring about the mass slaughter of human beings. It is not only because Germans slaughtered millions of victims in deliberate cruelty that a few dozen ring leaders are to be tried on capital charges. Cruelty concerns the degree of their offense. The fundamental offense was to conspire to break the peace and go to war.

This is an attempt to perform in international law the miracle that has wrought civilization out of chaos. In communities, areas, states and national governments, law has grown from the roots of common agreement about matters of general interest. In American frontier communities murder was not a crime at first; the murderer was frequently a hero—an individual "warrior". The concept of law grew slowly. Sheriffs were resisted, and judges were likely to be ridiculous and impotent. It took time to establish the roots of common agreement that human life should not be destroyed by individual decisions, in the heat of anger, or in the cold rage of planned revenge. With Roman and English law to draw on for precedents and the benefit of its own relatively congenial population to minimize friction, the United States still is not immune to outbreaks of individual and mob murdering.

The belief that international society now is ready to look upon conspiracy to start wars as a crime rests on a simple premise. It can be grasped and defined by every individual with a stake in international security. If Germany, in the individual's opinion, committed an offense against humanity with its deeds in World War II and during the years leading up to it, the crime of war already is established. But if, in the individual's opinion, Germany's only crime was in losing and thereby being held answerable for the blood it shed, then the crime of war is not established. Or, if the individual can see no difference between the crime of conspiracy to start a war and cooperation to survive a war, his thinking is too muddled for any clear conviction on one side or the other.

Sticking To the Issue

The national debate on military training that is about to tie down the whistle cords and make the welkin ring can be a demonstration of popular government at its best if one requirement is met.

All debaters must stick to the issue—and the issue is not compulsory military training vs. something else. The "something else" must be defined.

Twenty-five years ago under similar conditions the debate was permitted to develop without defining the alternative to military training. The alternative was conveniently neglected until the emergency at the beginning of this decade.

It then proved to be a frantic attempt to sort out and classify the nation's manpower available for national defense; awkward squads fumbling, with wooden guns and stovepipe artillery while Germany and Japan tightened a stranglehold on new world empires; the United States exhorting Great Britain and Russia to hang on while it produced not only the weapons with which to fight but the men trained to do the fighting. The United States was lucky. It won. But as every person who knows how close it came to disaster—a few hundred British aviators in the battle of Britain, a few thousand Russians and a couple degrees of temperature at Moscow—has murmured prayerfully since the fall of France in 1940, "May it never be that close again!"

There is a tremendous case to be made against compulsory military training; the idea is loathsome to millions of Americans, particularly those whose children would need to make the sacrifice. But let no one imagine that anything can be settled by being against military training. Being against it entails being for something else. In the national debate now starting, the important thing isn't to learn what we are against, but what we are for.

Neither Rome Nor Civilization

With time and patience, says Gen. MacArthur, Japan can be switched to the credit side of civilization's ledger. Meanwhile in Germany, American and British officials of the Allied occupation are beginning to talk about 25 and perhaps 50 years as the minimum training period for a democratic Germany.

It is too soon to know what is coming, but it is beginning to look as if Americans might be on the verge of giving up all thought of saving civilization by brisk dashes to its rescue at 25-year intervals. Perhaps the youngest of the great powers is about to discover what all the others have known for hundreds of years—that "the whole life of man is but a point of time".

This nation has been obsessed in the first few seconds of peace after World War II with a sense of urgency. Everything, it seems, had to be done in breathless haste—demobilization, war trial, reconversion, re-employment, purges. It may be that now there is the beginning of a reaction from the monstrous fancy that the vast consequences of World War II can be brushed aside with peremptory haste. The United States discovered after 1918 that the consequences of war are painful and lingering; that they require painstaking treatment; and that to think otherwise is to invite fresh disaster. If today the re-discovery is being made a little quicker, perhaps that in itself should be enough progress to satisfy us. Neither Rome nor civilization nor the wisdom of a world power can be achieved without painful mistakes and false starts.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, October 21.

SUNDAY'S horoscope indicates the need of a conventional day of rest and relaxation, together with the usual obligations, duties and advocations of the day. It might be just as well to pay some attention to the health and as well, to straighten out credits and attend to regulation duties and pledges. There may be depressions or doubts.

Those whose birthday it is may find it a profitable year to give attention to the physical condition, to enjoy rest and relaxation rather than active labors or practical aims or aspirations out of the routine. Maintain financial credit, standing and personal position, rather than reaching out for ambitious objectives, as little cooperation is to be expected at the present time.

A child born on this day may have a steady, calm and self-contained nature, with scant inclination to pursue an active career.

For Monday, October 22.

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is an analysis of mixed conditions, in which there may be some out-of-the-commonplace developments, inciting to certain constructive and energetic efforts to put over these sudden operations. However, but little gain is to be made, as there is want of support, probably from a too eager tongue, rash or offensive speech or writings. Be careful with all correspondence and shun wild talk.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of conflicting conditions, in which there may be unexpected openings for success or lucrative change, but these are likely to be defeated by loose, offensive or reckless talk or writings, offensive to those who might be of real assistance. Nervous tension or erratic impulses may incur loss and regrets. Guard words and writings.

A child born on this day may have opportunities in life with some exceptional ideas or skills, but its unguarded pen or tongue may invite defeat or failure.

Dizziness A Sign of Many Ills

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MOST OF us have been dizzy at some time or another so it is well to know that dizziness or vertigo is just a symptom which may occur in the course of any one of a number of conditions, such as heart disease, kidney disorders, disturbances of the blood vessels, or in various types of anemia or lessening of the coloring in the blood.

More severe attacks of dizziness may occur in patients suffering from such blood disorders as leukemia in which the number of white cells is greatly increased, or in purpura, a condition in which there is bleeding into the skin. In these latter disorders, the dizziness occurs because of hemorrhage into the internal ear, in which are located the structures called semicircular canals which control the sense of balance.

Tobacco and Alcohol

In addition, dizziness may also occur because of the abuse of tobacco and alcohol. Certain drugs may bring on the attacks, especially quinine and the salicylates. Constipation is another cause for attacks of dizziness and various infections may be accompanied by this symptom.

It is also known that attacks of dizziness or vertigo may occur in persons who are allergic, that is, who are sensitive to some food which they eat or to some pollen or dust which they breathe in. Tumors of the brain or disturbances of the blood vessels in the brain which may cause pressure on the hearing nerve, may bring on vertigo, which is almost constant.

Nerve Tissues

Then, too, there are certain diseases which cause wasting of the nerve tissues and one of the symptoms in these disorders is dizziness. Blows on the ears, fracture at the base of the skull and concussion of the brain may lead to vertigo.

There is a connection between the throat and the middle ear by means of a passageway known as the eustachian tube. If this tube becomes blocked, dizziness is one of the symptoms which may develop.

Meniere's Disease

There is a condition known as Meniere's disease in which there are recurrent attacks of dizziness, together with ringing of the ears and deafness. The exact cause of this condition is not known. The dizziness may vary in its severity. It may be nothing more than a feeling that objects are spinning which lasts for a few seconds, or there may be such a violent feeling of whirling around that the patient falls to the ground.

When we look at the many causes of dizziness, it can readily be seen how important a symptom it is. Much can be done in many cases once the cause is known. In all cases it is important to have a careful study made by a physician to find the cause before adequate treatment can be carried out.

S. S.: What is geographic tongue and is there a cure for it?

Answer: In geographic tongue there is soreness of the tongue and the formation of patches which itch and burn. It is sometimes difficult if not impossible to cure this condition in adults. A solution of silver nitrate painted on the tongue will relieve the burning sensation. The attacks may accompany indigestion.

Birthday Dinner Tomorrow To Honor Mrs. Stewart, 92

Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart of the Franklin rd. one of the oldest residents of the district, observed her 92nd birthday today on the farm where she was born and has spent her life.

Her family will celebrate the event tomorrow with a dinner at the home of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart on the Tegar-den rd. She has two other children, Clara and Luther Stewart who make their home with her.

When Mrs. Stewart's parents, John and Mary Moore Young, who came from Pennsylvania, purchased this farm it was all woods, with the exception of about an acre. Her father cleared the land and built a home for his family on the same site where her home stands.

She has a vivid recollection of Civil War days and especially of the day that the news came that Morgan and his raiders were coming. It was Sunday and the family was in a service at Phillips church, near McCrackens Corners. But the pastor, Rev. S. B. Tegar, did not allow this news to disrupt the service and continued with his sermon. Mrs. Stewart's brother, Martin, left the service and went home. Later he and his father rode their horse to Lisbon—but Morgan had been captured before he reached the county seat.

Church, Grange Member
Mrs. Stewart is the oldest member of Phillips church and Perry grange, from the point of years. For many years she taught in the Phillips Sunday school and still attends church as much as her health permits.

Lizzie Young and Watson E. Stewart were married 62 years ago last Thursday in the house where she was born. All of her children were born in this house, too. Mr. Stewart died in 1933. Two of her four grandchildren are in the service. Motor Mechanist Mate Second Class John Vernon Stewart, who has been in the South Pacific for a year, recently was in Nagasaki, Japan, one of the cities on which the atomic bomb was used. WAVE Yeoman First Class Margaret Stewart is stationed in Dallas, Tex. The other two, Mrs. Juanita Swartz and Vance W. Stewart, live in Salem. She has five great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Stewart is an aunt of Harry W. Young of Highland ave.

Rogers - Bailey Vows Heard

Miss Myrtle Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rogers of near Summitville, and Howard Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bailey of Winona, were married at 2 p. m. Friday in the bride's home with Rev. Paul McLaughlin, pastor of the Bethesda Presbyterian church, officiating in the single ring ceremony.

The vows were exchanged before a beautiful floral setting with chrysanthemums predominating.

Three vocal solos, "Till the End of Time," "Because," and "I Love You Truly" were sung by Mrs. Mary Morgan, accompanied by Mrs. Paul McLaughlin, who also played the traditional wedding music.

The bride, gowned in white satin and net, wore a finger-tip veil held in place by a tiara of pearls. Her double strand of pearls was a gift from the groom. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Earl Rogers, sister-in-law of the bride, matron of honor, wore an aqua gown and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Albert Dunn was the best man.

The bride's mother was attired in navy blue crepe and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held after the service. The refreshment table was centered with a large three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, and graced with candles and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride, a graduate of Salineville High school and Canton Adult Business college, was employed until recently at the Columbia Lamp works in Salem.

Mr. Bailey was graduated from the Friends Boarding school in Barnesville and is a farmer.

After a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y., and points of interest in the east, the couple will live near Winona.

Put Perfume Only On Clean Skin

BY ALICIA HART
THE atmosphere established by thoughtful selection of perfume may be destroyed if an evening scent is carelessly daubed over a daytime scent. To retain its greatest effectiveness, perfume should be applied only to a clean skin.

Esme of Paris, vivacious perfumer, suggests that American women, always rushing and on the go, should apply perfume only on the knee caps. By doing this, she says, the woman who doesn't have time for a complete bath between perfume changes has only her knee caps to wash thoroughly.

Consider what message you wish to send and what type of atmosphere you wish to create when you choose perfume. During the daylight hours, strive for an aura of fresh fragrance with a light floral perfume or cologne. The heavier, more seductive scents are reserved for the after 5 o'clock hours.

Whatever perfume you wear, regard its use as a ritual. Esme cautions. Never daub it on in public, but apply it alone and behind closed doors.

Columbiana I.O.O.F. Plans Tuesday Fete

COLUMBIANA, Oct. 20—Sydney Wade of Youngstown lodge of Odd Fellows will be the speaker Tuesday evening at the annual old-timers' meeting here of Panora lodge No. 110, I. O. O. F.

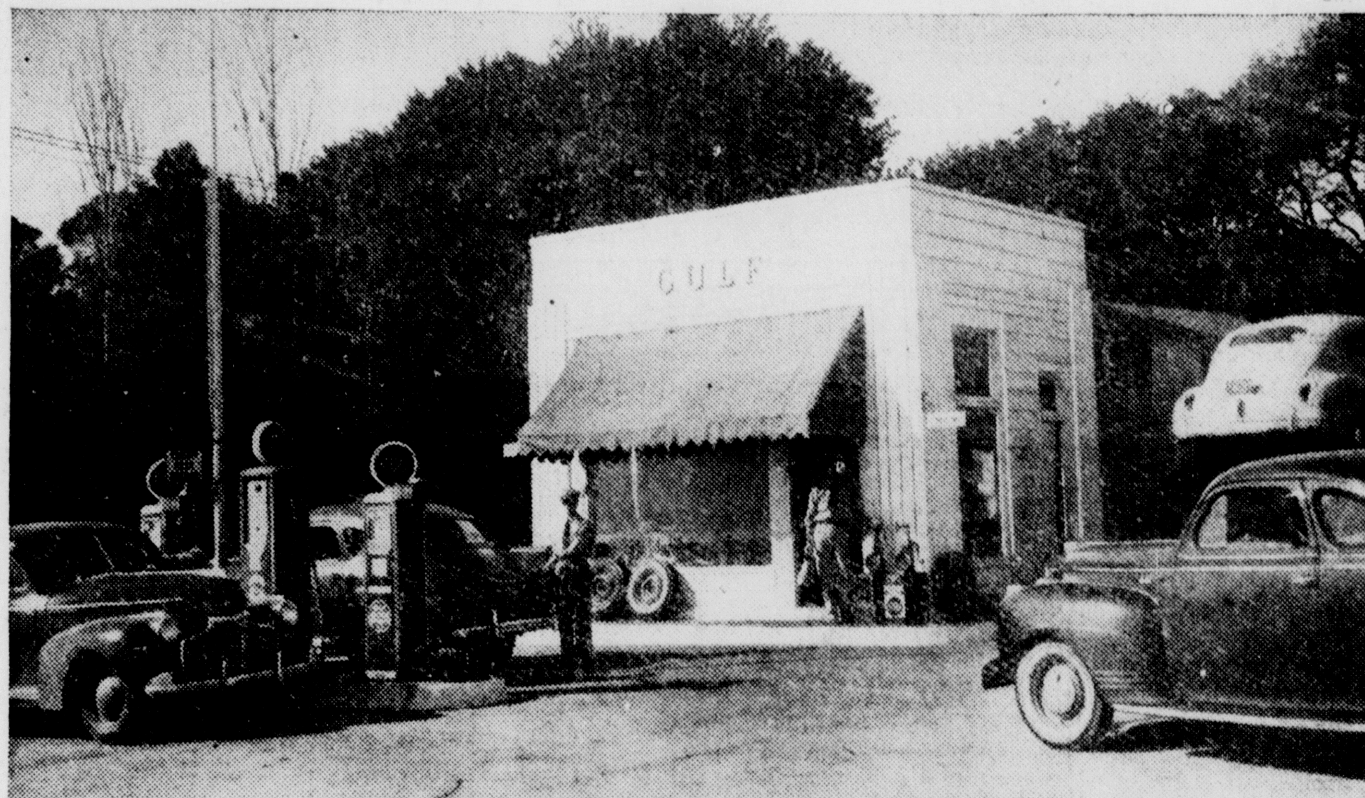

A man can plan...

1. I think of a rolling country, and the farm I'll own some day,
When I swap my wrench for a milking bench, and my lathe for a load of hay!

3. We're planning a year of travel, now the flags of war are furled,
And each Bond we keep is another leap in our trip around the world!

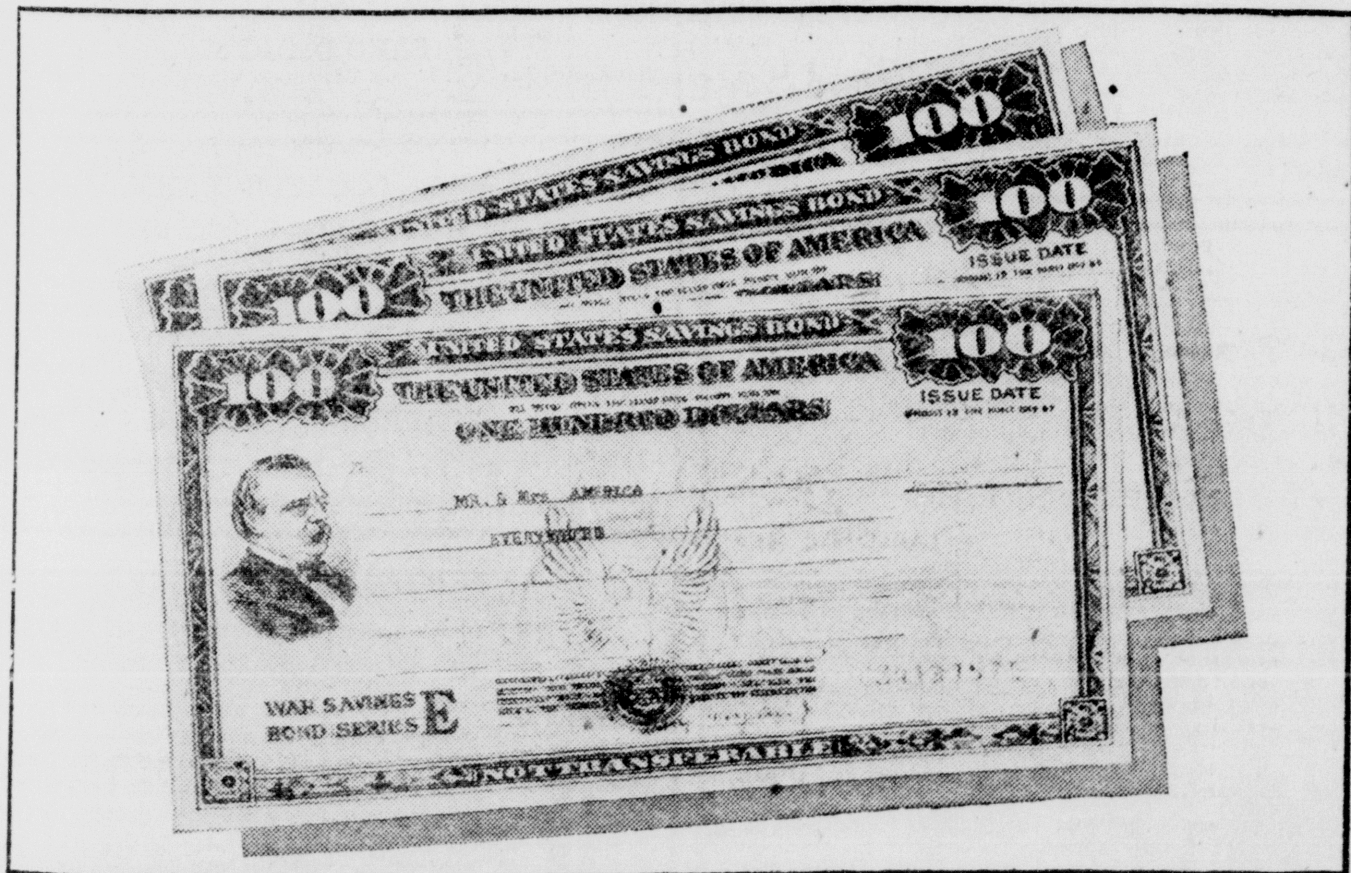

2. I've got my eye on a business I can purchase clear and free,
I'm saving my pay for the lucky day when I start to work for me!

4. Some day I want to retire, I'm saving my cash for then,
For with Bonds around I won't be found in a home for broke old men!

...and his plans can come true!

5. Whatever your plans for the future you'd better buy Bonds by the score,
Your dollars won't shirk, they'll pitch in and work...
Each three bucks will bring you back four!

So buy 'em and buy 'em and buy 'em, and keep every Bond till it's due,
The more Bonds you buy will be more you've put by
For the day when your plans can come true!

Improving Salem Uses Breaks, Power To Smother Struthers

BOSICK, HERRINGTON, TED BOONE GLISTEN IN BACKFIELD AS 2,400 SOAKED GRIDIRON FANS WATCH QUAKERS CAPTURE THIRD WIN

Utilizing two breaks to score and then driving hard on sustained marches for two other touchdowns, an improving Salem High school Quaker eleven last night trampled over the Struthers Big Red 26-6 before approximately 2,400 water-soaked fans at Reilly stadium for their third victory in six games.

Coach George Repasky's squad came from the opening kickoff to score on the Quakers and take a 6-0 lead.

As if indicative of Salem's early outlook, it began to pour, but as the Quakers forged down the field to count and lead 7-6, then add another six points before halftime, Old Man Weather—like a pleased Quaker fan—let up and pushed a bright moon through the clouds as the heavy downpour ceased.

It got brighter and brighter as the game progressed—and so did the Quakers. By the close of the third period Salem led 26-6.

Coach Ben Barrett once again gave a host of Quakers playing time, using substitutes the full final period until his lineup totaled 28 by the close of the contest.

The Quakers once again displayed good offensive blocking, powerhouse line pushes and a pair of promising backs. Neither team was especially efficient on defense. Salem rolling up 242 from rushing and Struthers 127. The first downs were 12-12.

Statistics Queer
In a sense it was an extremely peculiar game, as both teams for three quarters seemed to go when ever they got the ball. Salem wasn't on easy street until the final minutes of the third period—before that it was a nip and tuck ball game.

Struthers only booted once during the game, Salem three times.

The pair of backs who showed off well with the starting lineup for Salem were Eddie Bosick, 135-pound Freshman and scorer of 13 points, and Howard Herrington, 142-pound Junior, who got seven points during the evening.

Both drove hard and made the gains which eventually earned all four of the scores. Bosick was somewhat hindered by an injury under his right arm, but turned in a top-notch show despite his handicap.

Little Sophomore Ted Boone, whose brother Bob was benched with a leg injury all night, gave another good account of himself and actually tallied a pair of scores, one of which was nullified by a holding penalty in the final minutes. The other counted.

Line Good Offensively
The Salem lines—first, second and third—performed well on offense but appeared weak numerous times against the charging Big Red Backs. The Quakers were out-weighted, but seemed to glory in it once again.

Struthers' Ed Maki, an injury hindered quarterback, was tops in the losing column, although Andy Fabis, a stocky fullback, and Vince Masaro at left half, were not to be sneezed at on offensive offerings.

Louis Juliano, Lee Sproat, who plays well even when he's hobbling, and Dick Gottschling did nice jobs on the Quaker line. Fred Koenreich showed improvement, and the ends were all playing better ball last night.

The Big Red began things with impressiveness and it looked like the score might be awfully one-sided—the wrong way.

After the kickoff they marched 39 yards in seven plays to the Quaker nine, where the line bucked up and held for downs. Denny Smith's 16-yard boot went out on the Salem 25 and it was not going again.

Big Red Opens
In five plays 25 yards were behind Struthers and the score was 6-0 as Fabis slipped through center and scored. His plunge for the extra failed.

Salem retaliated quickly. After the kickoff the Quakers marched—with the aid of a break on a punt which netted them 19 yards—74 yards to score in 13 plays.

The break on the boot came when Smith kicked on fourth down from his 32. McPhee literally kicked it halfway back trying to get it. Herrington was on the ball and Salem had a first down on the Big Red 49.

From there it was drive and thrust, with Bosick doing the main chases. From the four Herrington found a tackle hole that stayed open all evening and went over. Bosick hit center and Salem led 7-6.

Threat Falls
Another Quaker threat failed Saturday later when Juliano recovered Pittman's fumble on the Struthers' 24. Four plays netted nothing and the Big Red took over on downs.

Salem took over, after a Struthers series and a kick, on their own 38 yard line. Even power plays, featuring a pretty 13-yard scamper by Ted Boone—replacing Bosick who was injured, brought Salem's No. 2 T. D. Boone made the six points from the four, going over left tackle. Smith tried center for the point, but didn't make it.

A brightening Big Red exhibition after the kickoff, in which Maki made the longest run of the game—36 yards to the Quaker 20—netted 54 yards in five plays, but the close of the half cut the screws to an almost sure score.

The Turning Point
The kickoff at the second half's beginning proved to be Salem's meat—and marked the definite turning point of the game.

The Quakers took over on the Salem 32 and marched score-hungry down the field, with Herrington and Bosick driving, to go the 68 yards in 18 plays.

THREE PRO TEAMS RISK TOP RECORDS

Interest Centers In Game Between Eagles and Redskins

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Three National Football league teams put their unbeaten records on the line tomorrow, but the prize game involves the once-beaten Philadelphia Eagles and Washington Redskins.

The Eagles-Redskins clash in Washington will present an individual duel between Philadelphia's Steve Van Buren, the league's leading ground gainer, and Washington's Sammy Baugh, ace forward passer.

Van Buren, only in his second year, has already established himself as one of the greatest ball carriers in the league. In 13 tries, he has gained 163 yards for an average of 12.5 per attempt. Among his four touchdowns is a 69-yard sprint, the longest touchdown jaunt this year.

Baugh has completed 32 out of 53 tosses including three payoff passes. In another outstanding clash, the unbeaten Boston Yanks, Eastern Division leaders, play at Milwaukee against Green Bay's Packers, 1944 league champions, who are still nettled over their first defeat at the hands of the Cleveland Rams last Sunday.

The unbeaten Rams, with a perfect three for three record, will take on the deflated Chicago Bears, who have yet to gain a victory after three attempts. This game should provide another passing duel between the Rams' Bob Waterfield and the Bears' Sid Luckman.

Protest Dismissal Of Shooting Charge

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 20.—A spokesman for the family of Albert Kovacs, 19, Norwalk sailor, who was shot to death by Mrs. Imogene Dumas Stevens last June, has asserted the family is determined "to take some action if any action can be taken" on the dismissal of a manslaughter charge lodged against the 24-year-old wife of U. S. Army Paratrooper Major G. Ralsey Stevens, 3rd.

Rudy Kovacs, one of the dead youth's four brothers, in a statement after Judge Ernest A. Inglis had dismissed the charges yesterday in Superior court on recommendation of State's Attorney Lorn W. Willis, said that the family is preparing to appeal to "the governor or to the president in protest against the manner in which the case was disposed of."

Willis, in recommending dismissal, said that "all the evidence tended to support the defendant's claim" that she shot Kovacs, a navy submarine sailor who had seen several months of Pacific duty, in self defense.

AFL CLAIMS WAGE BOOSTS ESSENTIAL

CINCINNATI, Oct. 20.—The American Federation of Labor believes labor's demand for wage increases—and their early realization—is the country's best possible assurance of sound and lasting prosperity in the postwar period.

The AFL executive council, in a quarterly conference here, expressed that belief yesterday in a statement on its wage and price policy, and added: "Purchasing power is an absolute essential to our mass production economy. We proved during the war that we have the resources, the machinery and the manpower to produce enough to raise living standards above levels heretofore believed impossible."

William Green, AFL president, told a press conference the organization was ready to demand immediate wage increases and he said it would support its international unions "in substantial demands."

Ex-Soldier Kills Bride, Then Attacks Companion On Ride

(By Associated Press)
DENVER, Oct. 20.—A tearful account of murder followed by rape near the slain woman's body led to the arrest of a recently discharged soldier crouched beside his dead wife in a mired automobile.

A semi-hysterical, partially disrobed young woman sobbed out the story which sent out a posse that captured the man when his suicide attempt failed late last night.

Sheriff Charles Foster of Arapahoe county said the former soldier, Joseph Desrosiers, 25, San Antonio, Tex., surrendered to more than 20 police and sheriff's officers and confessed shooting his 23-year-old bride of 10 months, Catherine, through the temple with a .32 calibre pistol "because her mother made life a hell for us."

Captain of Detectives James E. Childers said today Marie Woldill, 26, told police that Desrosiers brandishing a gun, raped her before the slaying and again afterward while his wife's body lay on the floor of the car's rear seat.

Miss Woldill had registered at a trailer camp Sept. 27 as from New Jersey. Police did not know her name then. Her mired auto was in a gully known as "Dead Man's Gulch."

Her account as recorded by Detective Sgt. Leslie Sawyer related she met Desrosiers earlier in the night at a Denver tavern, that they drove to East Denver and later they met his wife and continued driving to Aurora, a suburb.

STRIP MINE REPORT DUE FOR ASSEMBLY

COLUMBUS, Oct. 20.—The nine-member state commission named to study controversial problems resulting from strip coal mining was asked to prepare recommendations for presentation to the next special session of the legislature.

"I know of no problem in Ohio more acute and requiring attention than the working out of a solution to strip mining," Gov. Lausche told the group.

The governor asserted failure of the legislature in regular session to enact laws providing for restoration of strip mine spoil banks had permitted considerable damage but he expressed belief it could be remedied if action were taken soon.

He recommended imposition of severance tax on strip mined coal, the money to be used for land restoration. The governor has said he would call a special year-end session.

Sen. Everett E. Addison (R-Franklin) was elected chairman of the committee and Rep. Cliff Cayl (R-Union) vice chairman. Sen. Clingan Jackson (D-Mahoning) was named secretary.

Sorority Alumnae Halts Bond Drive With Kisses

COLUMBUS, Oct. 20.—Members of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at Ohio State university started a "kiss and sell victory bonds" campaign but called the whole thing off in the midst of a flourishing business.

Mrs. William Carlile, chairman of the sorority's alumnae board, insisted that rewarding bond purchasers with kisses was "too undignified" and the girls closed their booth at a downtown movie house.

Among those beating the kiss deadline was Elmer (Zeke) Estep, bewhiskered "Arkansas Hillbilly" wrestler, who was rewarded by Susana Campodonico, 19, of Wyoming, O., a sophomore, for his purchase of a $200 bond.

Hilgendorf Is Renamed By Journalism Group

R. W. Hilgendorf, Salem High school faculty member, was elected president of the Tri-County Journalism association at a recent meeting.

The association includes nine schools in Mahoning, Columbiana and Trumbull counties. Hilgendorf and H. C. Lehman represented Salem High school.

Two meetings of student journalists were planned, the first to be held Nov. 14 at East Liverpool High school, in charge of Ira Sayre, and the second at Girard High school sometime in December, with Miss Frances Crider, advisor.

SERIOUSLY WOUNDED IN 'MERCY KILLING'

READING, Pa., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Helene Patts, 40, is in critical condition today after her husband shot her in an attempted "mercy murder," Chief of Detective Albert Hoffman reported.

Hoffman said Steelworker John S. Patts, 41, told him he shot his wife as she lay in bed last night because she has an incurable disease and "I couldn't bear to see her suffer."

'Night of Horror' Participants

Miss Marie Woldill, 26, right, formerly of Atlantic City, N. J., sobbed a story of a "night of horror" in Denver, Colo., in which she says she was twice criminally assaulted—and was forced to watch her attacker kill his young wife. The slain wife is Mrs. Catherine Stone Desrosiers, top left, 23, a former Army nurse at Edmond, Alta., and White Horse, N. Y. JAP TRIALS to do was catch our defendants and go ahead.

"In Japan, however, we had to empty prison camps, interview prisoners about atrocities—in other words, start from scratch. Then we had to catch our criminals."

However, Carpenter, who flew here Wednesday night from Manila, said he was well satisfied with the progress.

Open to Public
The trials will be public. They will be held in the largest suitable places. Carpenter said supreme authorities wished to permit the attendance of the largest possible number of Japanese "who, I believe, are extremely interested in the proceedings."

The two leading figures in the forthcoming trials, Tojo and Shigenori Togo, are improving steadily. Tojo has about recovered from the pistol wound he inflicted in a bungled attempt to kill himself. Togo, who was Tojo's foreign minister, is recovering from a heart ailment.

Carpenter said the death penalty could be invoked in every instance but pointed out that the prosecution merely presented the evidence with the military commission handing down the verdict and degree of punishment. The commission will consist of at least three judges with as many more as may be appointed by MacArthur.

The procedure is designed to permit free introduction of evidence.

Rogers Child Stricken With Infantile Paralysis

Dr. Seward B. Harris, Columbiana county health commissioner, said today that another case of infantile paralysis had been reported to the health office.

The victim is Floyd Hauenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hauenstein, of R. D. Rogers, who has been taken to Children's hospital at Akron suffering from a mild case of poliomyelitis. The child has been ill about six weeks.

Noted Painter Killed

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—Newell C. Wyeth, 62, noted American painter, was killed Friday when a Pennsylvania railroad freight train smashed into his station wagon at a crossing at suburban Ring Road, Pa.

Wyeth, whose home was at Chadds Ford, Pa., was accompanied by his four-year-old grandson, Newell, who also was killed.

Gas Blast Struck Cleveland Year Ago

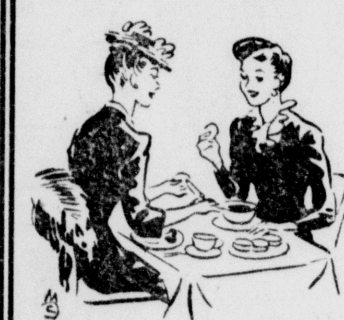

CLEVELAND, Oct. 20.—A year ago today a thunderous blast, followed by giant flames that leaped hundreds of feet, caused the greatest disaster in Cleveland's history.

The explosions and fire which struck the East Ohio Gas Co.'s liquefied gas storage plant devastated 20 acres of factories and dwellings on the city's east side, brought death to 130 persons and caused property damage of $6,000,000.

In the past year work has been speeded to remove all surface scars of the catastrophe.

This afternoon ground will be broken for the first new home to be erected in the area leveled by the holocaust.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who grew up in the district, will participate in the ground-breaking ceremony.

Packard Reveals First Postwar Models

Shown above is the new postwar Packard Clipper touring sedan. Production of these 1946 models has just been unveiled to the Packard Dealer Advisory Council who were told that first public showings will be made at regional dealer meetings in seven cities early next month. The new Packard, following styling of the company's fresh-designed prewar Clipper model, incorporates 68 design and mechanical changes. New sparkle and more powerful exterior appearance are attained with a newly treated radiator grille, and more massive sideguard bumpers. More eye-appeal is added by colorful new interiors of clean-lined modern styling.—The Walter L. Gray Motors Sales is the Packard dealer in Salem.

Auto Kills Railroader
CHILLICOTHE, Oct. 20.—Brady Hicks, 43, B. & O. railway brakeman, was struck and killed by an automobile north of here last night.

The World Today

has surrounded all government activities for five years.

The new constitution is expected to provide for election of the French president by universal suffrage as in America, instead of having him chosen by the senate and chamber of deputies. The senate itself probably will be elected in similar fashion, instead of by an electoral college as before.

Extensive nationalization of industry and public services is expected to gain renewed momentum from tomorrow's voting. The Communists and Socialists are agreed on that point, and the DeGaulleists, represented in the election specifically by the M.R.P., already have been extending nationalization in fields such as mining, aviation, public utilities and automobile manufacture.

The Socialists and the Communists, with similar internal programs but with the Communists not supporting DeGaulle, are expected to capture nearly 300 of the 591 seats to be filled tomorrow, while the parties of the extreme right get no more than 150.
